Chudleigh Sutch to Establish South American Division

ETCHINGHAM, UK - Chudleigh Sutch UK Ltd. (Chudleigh Sutch) will collaborate with Santiago, Chile based Lateral Hint SpA (Lateral Hint) to establish, Chudleigh Sutch LATAM, focused on bringing their varied engineering products and services to the Central and South American markets.

Chudleigh Sutch, a third-generation engineering consultancy, with offices in the UK, Hong Kong, Thailand, and Australia works with customers across the brewing, food & beverage, and plastics manufacturing industries to provide turnkey manufacturing solutions. In addition, Chudleigh Sutch represents a group of industry leading and global OEM equipment manufacturers for injection moulds, injection moulding machines, process control & cooling systems, material handling & treatment systems, post-moulded automation, and factory automation systems.

Lateral Hint has a long and established track record of working within the Central and South American markets and focusing on providing manufacturing equipment solutions for companies in the plastics manufacturing industry. Lateral Hint has offices in Chile and Argentina, in addition to a network of agents throughout the South American region.

"The Americas are an exciting market for us to expand our presence to," said Managing Director, Marcus Sutch. "More than at any time in our 40-year history we see today as the opportunity for turnkey manufacturing and factory automation systems, such as those provided by Chudleigh Sutch, to provide our customers the flexibility they need to be competitive in their home-markets."

Said Pablo Almazan of Lateral Hint, "We look forward to introducing Chudleigh Sutch to the Latin American market. With our local presence in the region and Chudleigh Sutch's global presence and industry experience we are confident we can, together, assist our customer's tap into sustainable high-performance solutions that will benefit their business."

As part of the collaboration, Pablo Almazan will lead Chudleigh Sutch LATAM in addition to the existing team of service and sales personnel at Lateral Hint.
